Kukkarahalli Lake Development

New Panel to study pumping fresh water

Mysuru, Apr. 28 (RK&BCT)- A meeting of Lake Committee to discuss the report submitted by the two-member expert panel on the development works in Kukkarahalli Lake began at the Deputy Commissioner's Office this morning under the chairmanship of DC D. Randeep.

Members of the expert panel formed by Karnataka Lake Conservation and Development Authority Prof. Ramprasad from the Indian Institute of Science and retired Chief Engineer from Mysuru C.N. Babu were also present.

The meeting resolved not to take up any development work at the lake for now, as recommended by the expert panel. A separate committee was formed today to study the feasibility of pumping water from the Hebbal Lake into Kukkarahalli Lake.

The panel had asked the authorities to formalise an arrangement with Infosys, which is letting out treated water into the Hebbal Lake, and ensure that about 5 MLD of treated water is diverted to Kukkarahalli Lake.

The new committee will examine the pros and cons of pumping water from Hebbal Lake to Kukkarahalli Lake and also look into the possibility of establishing a separate Sewage Treatment Plant to treat effluents before clean water is let out to Kukkarahalli Lake.

The committee comprises MCC Superintending Engineer Suresh Babu, Executive Engineer of Karnataka Pollution Control Board Geetha, Save Kukkarahalli Lake Committee Convener Prof. K.M. Jayaramaiah, environmentalist U.N. Ravikumar and Nagaraj of District Urban Development Department. The committee has been asked to submit its report within three weeks. All the committee members were present at the meeting.

Listing out the development plans initiated by the University of Mysore, the expert committee had said that works like providing an e-water harmoniser system, diffused aerator system, construction of boating jetty, providing orchidarium, butterfly park, bamboo park, aquarium and adventure park must be stopped. It has only recommended the authorities to carry out works like fixing signboards, tree identification boards with scientific information, dustbins and ticket booth.

Today's meeting resolved to carry out signboard, tree identification boards and other minor works in an unobtrusive manner as recommended by the committee.

Bloody bungling

British man of letters and celebrated poet John Milton (1608-1674) has been quoted as saying: A good book is the precious lifeblood of a master spirit. His thought, expressed in this unique way, connecting book and blood may prompt one to ponder over the need for bestowing more care and attention to both. While the blind poet's adulation for books, particularly good books, takes us to the fascinating world of literature, knowing and learning about the role blood plays in the currently expanding field of medical diagnostics can be and should be not only more fascinating but also highly rewarding. We hear seasoned physicians, specialising in treating their diabetic patients, that the set of figures revealing blood sugar recorded at random, after 12-hour fasting and postprandial is the Gold Standard for precise diagnosis of the stage of disorder.

Physicians following the time-tested practice of a) hearing the patient's version of the health-related problem(s), b) feeling the pulse rate, c) recording the temperature, d) checking the heart-beat and e) occasionally observing systolic and diastolic heart conditions, apart from obtaining a word or two from the patient about food consumed as well as bowel movements have yielded place to a genre of medical practitioners who seek report from the pathology laboratory, with result of blood tests featured conspicuously.

While a mere drop of blood drawn by a prick a la mosquito bite sent for testing in the pathology laboratory tells a bit to the doctor about the state of his or her patient's health, a little more blood, say a spoonful or two, tells a lot more. While people at large, given their near-zero knowledge about the intimate connect between pathology and physiology of the human body, grudgingly go through the tests, it is unfair to insist on treatment without test, and much worse, resorting to self-diagnosis and self-medication. The dismal child nutrition scenario and in the country being more talked about than acted upon to address the sufferings on a mass scale, has unarguably pushed the more serious blood-related issues such as anaemia, leukaemia, septicaemia and virally infected blood to the region of inadequate attention.

In the foregoing backdrop of the nation's ill-health-bugged masses, particularly blood-centric illnesses, a just-published report in a section of the press that 28 lakh units of blood and its components were discarded by blood banks across India holds mirror to bloody bungling as it were by those in the all-important health sector, Karnataka keeping company with Maharashtra, Uttar Pradesh and Tamil Nadu as the worst offenders. Donors of blood are thus denied a sense of noble fulfilment in their act of life-saving benevolence.

EDITOR'S BOTTOMLINE

By the grace of Goddess I do not believe in God. I was raised by Christians whose main interest in Christmas was cake. It didn't occur to me until high school that Muslims didn't celebrate Christmas or that Parsis didn't celebrate Diwali, or that Hindus didn't celebrate Eid. My extended family was bonded by friendship, not by last name and definitely not by deity. Today I live in Mumbai in a neighbourhood that is dotted with saris, burqas and skirts – the Amar Akbar Anthony of fashion. Our street is a madhouse almost all year round because someone or the other wants to celebrate his God in his own special, littering, loudspeakered way and we all live with it. But religion has an ability to do something rather subversive – it forces exclusion, it conditions you to hang out with, eat with, and mate with "your own kind" – thus producing more thoroughbred bigots. When really doing something for God is like doing something for your imaginary girl friend, you are only getting lucky in your own mind.

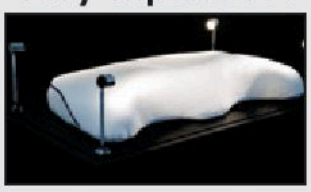
This pillow is very expensive!



Amsterdam: A Dutch physical therapist turned inventor has spent 15 years developing a tailor-made pillow that he claims will solve any sleeping problems. At a price of $57,000, it better!

Created by Thijs van der Hilst, who is supposedly some sort of neck specialist, the world's most expensive pillow is made of Mulberry silk, Egyptian cotton, non-toxic Dutch memory foam and 24-carat gold fabric, while its zipper is studded with four diamonds and a huge 22.5-carat sapphire. It sounds pretty expensive already, but it takes more than high-quality materials and jewellery to justify such an outrageous price tag for a pillow.

Van der Hilst didn't set out to create this pricey sleeping aid as a mere symbol of someone's wealth. He wanted to create the perfect sleeping pillow for his clients, and decided that the only way to do was to offer a tailor-made solution based on a person's body shape and sleeping habits. So there we have it, a tailor-made pillow that costs as much as an expensive car. What will they think of next...

Muddy jeans will get you $425!

Lisbon: For the past couple of days, fashion retailer Nordstrom has been the butt of a lot of jokes on social media, after it was revealed that it is selling a pair of jeans caked in fake mud for a whopping $425.

The description on the Nordstrom website explains that the mud-caked jeans "embody rugged, Americana work wear that's seen some hard-working action." Ironically, they are made in Portugal, by a company called PRPS, which specialises in distressed jeans covered in holes, rips and patches.

Photos of the Barracuda Straight Leg Jeans went viral online recently, with people leaving all kinds of snarky reviews on the Nordstrom website.

But if you're one of the few people who actually find these $425 pre-muddied jeans cool. PRPS also makes a matching $425 fake mud-caked denim jacket, so you can really rock the dirty job look!

HUDCO award to KSRTC

Will the Corporation live up to people's expectations?

Sir,

This refers to the recent news item regarding KSRTC being honoured with the prestigious National "HUDCO Best Practice Award-2017" for its initiative "MITRA - Nation's First Intelligent Transport System (ITS) at Mysuru City." We should all be very proud of this singular achievement of KSRTC. But one must not be carried away by this award just like in the case of Cleanest City award.

As all of us are aware MGP has earnestly and vigorously taken up the issue of failure of ITS in Mysuru right from day one of its introduction and has written countless letters to the Divisional Controller as well as the press. We have had many interactions with the officials joining our monthly meetings at least three times in the past and none of the grievances which were promised to be resolved have been delivered.

There is no online system of customer complaints and its registration and redressal. There is no published time-table for the city buses which is a basic minimum for any system to be evaluated for punctuality and efficiency. Even the web-based time-table for several routes are not updated despite our regular pleas and personal meetings with the KSRTC DC.

Just for example, the timings for Route No.72, which is still a single bus service does not operate on Sundays and there is no info even on the web. Route No. 135 has three versions, namely 135, 135N and 135NN. Nowhere is an explanation available for these versions. I have checked even today to see if the website time-table is updated or not. Nope. No improvement at all.

Like these the number of failuresaretoomanytobelistedhere.

We all know how well the timings are displayed on the electronic sign boards at various bus shelters which themselves are wrongly located. The big electronic sign board at Kuvempunagar bus stand is still not fully functional.

I wonder how these awards are finalised. This is not the first time KSRTC is awarded for ITS. It is just like submitting the same thesis document for multiple degrees at several Universities.

It is high time that the senior officers realised the faults and gaps and work towards living up to the expectations at least now after receiving the award.

Merit student arrested for uploading girls' phone numbers, photos on obscene website

Mysuru, Apr. 28 (RK&BCT)- A meritorious student of the University of Mysore has been arrested by the Jayalakshmipuram Police on charges of posting mobile numbers and photographs of girl students on a website that provides escort services.

The student has been identified as Jayanth Kumar, who is a final year student of Environment Science. He is the son of Basavaraju and a resident of Vidyaranyapuram. He had uploaded the phone numbers and photos of five girls and three boys. The website contains objectionable content with semi-nude photos of women.

Admitting that he had uploaded the photos on the escort services website, Jayanth Kumar told the Police that he was insulted and rebuked by his classmates for scoring high in examinations and as well as in the internal assessment. He was a top-scorer in all the three semesters.

He told the Police that his classmates, especially those who scored low marks insulted him and had spread rumours that he (Jayanth Kumar) was in the good books of the Professors and had got question papers before the examination so that he could perform well.

He claimed that the girls were jealous of him and used to tease him that he was able to score good internal marks with the help of some Professors. He said that his classmates never used to call him for events and he cited the example of "fun week" celebrated by his department for which he was not invited.

Jayanth confessed to the act and said that by uploading the photos and phone numbers, he wanted to take revenge on "unfriendly classmates." He told the Police that when he was browsing the internet in the third week of April, he found the website where he uploaded the photos and phone numbers. The girls approached the Police after they received obscene calls on their mobile phones.

Acting on the complaint, the Cyber Cell Police of the CID rounded off Jayanth at his residence by tracing the IP address connected to his personal computer and mobile phone. Considering the gravity of the case, the Police had handed over the investigation to the CID.

Jayanth told the Police that after uploading the photos and phone numbers, he had deleted the content.

However, he re-uploaded the content later. He has been charged with IT Act and IPC Section 509 (word, gesture or act intended to insult the modesty of a woman) that can be punished with simple imprisonment for a term which may extend to one year, or with fine, or with both.

UoM students accuse Professor of partiality

Mysuru, Apr. 28- A section of students from the Department of Environment Sciences, University of Mysore (UoM), has complained against Prof. A.G. Deviprasad accusing him of partiality.

In a written complaint to the Acting Vice-Chancellor and the Registrar, 16 students have alleged that Deviprasad, a Professor of Biodiversity, was being partial towards them as they have not registered with him for project work.

"He is misbehaving with us and even threatened us that he will prove that we are characterless and he says he will go to any extent to do it," the students have stated in the complaint.

Students have alleged that Prof. Deviprasad had given less marks to them in the Internal Assessment and has given more marks to those students who are doing project work under him.

"During classes, he cuts dirty jokes which embarrasses all the girls. We fear that he will spoil our academic year," the students have stated in their complaint.

Acting on the complaint, University Registrar Prof. R. Rajanna has initiated a probe in this regard, it is learnt.

Meanwhile, the Registrar has issued notice to Prof. A.V. Deviprasad seeking explanation about the complaint lodged by the students. He has asked the Professor to reply to the notice within three days.

Irregularities at Mysore Varsity, KSOU

Samithi demands probe

Mysuru, Apr. 28 (PM&DM)- Demanding a probe into the alleged irregularities at University of Mysore (UoM) and Karnataka State Open University (KSOU), the Mysuru Vishwavidyanilaya Ulisi Horata Samithi has said that it would submit a memorandum to the Chief Minister as well as the Prime Minister seeking a probe.

Addressing a press meet at a private hotel in city on Wednesday, Samithi Convenor P. Jayaraj Hegde said that the KSOU was offering 66 Graduate and Under-Graduate courses as per UGC norms until 2009-10.

"But after Prof. K.S. Rangappa took over as the VC of KSOU in 2009, KSOU started offering more than 300 Technical courses in association with several private institutions, starting from 2010-11. Also, several Study Centres were set-up across the country. But these Technical courses had no AICTE approval and the courses were offered in violation of UGC norms," he added.

As a result, the UGC cancelled the recognition of unauthorised KSOU courses, thus shattering the dreams of lakhs of students who had enrolled with it, Hegde claimed. Continuing, Hegde alleged that there were gross irregularities in the UoM when Prof. Rangappa was the VC.

Accusing Prof. Rangappa of illegal appointments during his tenure, Hegde alleged that the Rs. 1.1 crore Oval Grounds upgradation work was of poor quality. He also accused Prof. Rangappa of discrimination in awarding Fellowship to research scholars.

Another Convenor of the Samithi, M.J. Suresh Gowda, who also addressed the press meet, lashed out at Prof. Rangappa for playing with the career of lakhs of students enrolled with the KSOU.

Samithi office-bearers Ravinandan, Kamsale Ravi, Deepak Achappa and others were present during the press meet.

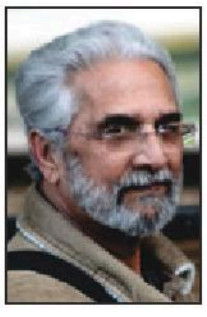
Raptors of Mysuru



Birds! Whenever one thinks of birds, visualises songs, flight, colour and adorability. Of course birds are adorable, they wake us up at dawn with their beautiful songs, keep our day animated with their presence and flitting around us. They make the world loveable and lively. A fairy tale setting is unimaginable without the birds in the frame.

Shikra - Accipiter Badius

By Ragoo Rao

Birds are loveable, though there are some formidable birds too. The ones that prey on other animals for food are the Raptors. The birds that hunt other animals for food, the Birds of Prey. The Birds of Prey inhabit all parts of the world. From the cold frigid zones to the steaming humid rain forests, deserts and oceans. Each one specialising in its own way of life, occupying various niches in the food-chain.

Equipped with fine-tuned arsenal, like heavy and sharp beaks, powerful talons, excellent flight abilities, and the ability to soar in the skies using the thermal currents of air. The most versatile eye sight meant for predation, which can turn from a microscope to a telescope within a fraction of a second, all evolved over millions of years, for a life of predation. Raptors inhabit all bio-spheres. The deserts, the Rain forests, the High Himalayan region to the coastal areas.

Mysuru, a congenial region for Avian Life, a region with bird supporting habitats, has its own species of Raptors inhabiting the urban area and the outskirts of our city. Though not sighted and recognised by many, except for the frequently sighted and familiar, 1. Black Kite (Haddhu in Kannada) and 2. the Brahminy Kite (Garuda), many Raptors are unknown. These are the two familiar Birds of Prey to many urbanites. The other seldom sighted are 3. The Egyptian Vultures - Neophron percnopterus, a white and yellow large vulture feeding on carrion in the outskirts of the city, shunning human presence; 4. the mighty Tawny Eagle - Aquila rapax, a powerful eagle, bonding for life and living in pairs, nesting on single tall trees in open grasslands on the fringes of our city, 5. Red-naped Falcon - Falco chiquera, a pigeon sized raptor with a grey body and Red head; 6. The Shikra - Accipiter badius, a hunter often nesting and sighted in tall mahogany and mango trees in parks and fields; 7. Oriental Honey Buzzard - Pernis ptylorhynchus, a large eagle-like bird specialising in feeding on bees and honey;

Shikra - Accipiter Badius

The Great Indian Eagle Owl

Egyptian Vultures

8. the pigeon-sized Black-winged Kite - Elanus caerulius, with one of the most beautiful eyes in the bird kingdom hovering on grasslands to hunt on small reptiles and rodents; 9. The Crested Serpent Eagle - Spilornis cheela, a large eagle with a Prominent crest-like a crown, hunting snakes and rodents in fields whose call can be heard from almost one mile away; 10. Booted Eagle - Heiraaetus pennatus, an eagle sized Buzzard in two colour morphs the dark and whitish light morph hunting rodents and snakes in the well wooded areas; 11. Eurasian Marsh Harrier - Circus aeruginosus - a migratory raptor, wintering in the lakes of Mysuru hunting waterfowl chicks and eggs; 12. Short-toed Snake Eagle-Circaetus gallicus, a beautiful raptor grey-coloured with brownish stripes hunting on rodents and snakes in harvested fields; 13. White-eyed Buzzard- Butasatur teesa, a medium sized raptor hunting snakes and small mammals; 13. Common Kestrel - Falco tinnuculus, a small Bird of Prey, a migratory visitor to our region; 14. Montagu's Harrier - Circus pygarus, a winter visitor preferring our grasslands. These are the Birds of Prey of our city and outskirts.

Special mention should be made while dealing with the Birds of Prey, the Night Hunting Owls of Mysuru. The Great Indian Eagle Owl - Bubo benghlanensis, a big owl usually roosting in abandoned stone quarries and deserted buildings in the day time. The other more familiar Indian Spotted Owlet - Athene brama, quite often sighted at dusk and early mornings, even inside our urban localities with trees or tall poles. A small-sized Owl which rests in tree cavities in the day time. The Indian Scops Owl - Otus bakkamoena, a small sized owl, which looks more like a Toy bird, like a soft toy, which is more heard at dusk with its repeated ringing calls than seen. The eyesight of these night hunters is something to be marvelled at. In Darkness, where a human can't see his own nose, the Owls can clearly see a Mouse in the grass on the ground, perched from a tree top. They can swoop down noiselessly and snatch the mouse. Such is the ability and highly evolved sight and flight.

These are the Birds of Prey, the Hunters of Mysuru. All these raptors are, except for the Black Kite and the Brahminy Kite, on the IUCN Red List. A list prepared after detailed study and assessment by experts in the relevant field by a World Body on Nature and Conservation, showing the status of all species, show these as Threatened of Extinction, Vulnerable and Critically Endangered. The Egyptian Vulture is Critically Endangered.

The reasons for dwindling population of these Raptors are identified by the assessment experts. Habitat degradation/ destruction, being the prime cause. The other causes are polluted water bodies, where these Raptors hunt on aquatic life like fish, or take a drink of water, the carcasses of poisoned rodents being eaten by the raptors, the most rampant being the use of organo-phospho compounds to poison rodents in the fields and rodent infested dwellings and throwing the dead rodents on the streets.

A little care... a little more concern... A little more discrimination in pesticide usage... A little more respect for other creatures... Might save the magnificent Predatory Birds... for our future generations to sight.

Let the Raptors of Mysuru... Live forever.

A folly or a veiled Ransom Note?

It has been reported that our City Corporation authorities are thinking of making Sayyaji Rao Road and Devaraj Urs Road a complete 'No Parking' zone just because they will soon be providing us a multi-level underground parking lot in the Town Hall premises. I think this is one of the stupidest proposals that anyone can think of. Have they considered the difficulty that has to be faced by citizens who come to do their shopping, driving their own vehicles? Is it not unfair to expect them to park their vehicles at the Town Hall and walk all the way in the sun and the rain to the far ends of either the Sayyaji Rao Road or the Devaraj Urs Road to reach the shops that they wish to visit? And, is it fair to expect them to trudge all the way back to the parking lot, lugging their full shopping bags? It is certainly not an easy option.

Rumours are already abuzz that by announcing this outlandish proposal the people in power are actually issuing a veiled ransom note to all the shop-owners in and around the two roads so that they can be made to collectively pay a heavy ransom to get this ban cancelled. With no other go, when they are trapped between the devil and the deep sea, they will indeed pool the money and pay up this ransom amount to rescue their businesses from the possibility of being ruined. They are the ones who stand to lose a great deal if their potential customers are not allowed to park their vehicles near their shops as business then gets diverted to other areas in the peripheries of the city.

Nothing is more detrimental to business than the absence of parking space at a stone's throw for customers. Customers shy away from areas without convenient parking and we have seen many established business outlets on Sayyaji Rao Road and K. R. Circle gradually failing because of this problem. The owners of a few such firms have got over this problem by opening additional branches in peripheral areas. But with real estate values being what they are now, not everyone in business can resort to this prohibitively expensive solution. Further, shop owners will also be put to additional inconvenience if they cannot park their own vehicles close to their establishments.

There is no denying the fact that at present a great deal of parking space in these two roads and the Ashoka Road is indeed occupied by the shop owners themselves for their own vehicles. It is actually this practice that is causing a scarcity of parking space on these three main roads in our business district. The vehicles of the hundreds of shop, office and bank employees of the area too contribute to this shortage. The best way to deter this is to allow roadside parking but at a fairly hefty fee on an hourly basis which will still not be resented by citizens who will not park their vehicles beyond the time they require for their shopping or banking needs. People will certainly not mind paying about twenty rupees for an hour of parking time as they are now doing in Bengaluru and many other metropolitan cities.

All long-time parking will then automatically get diverted to the much cheaper Town Hall parking lot putting it to good use and also relieving the congestion on the roads. But there are people amidst us who may say that allowing roadside parking causes traffic congestions. Nothing can be farther from the truth. We all know that paid parking is being allowed without much chaos in many cities on roads much narrower than the three roads under question in our city. If it can be done there it can be done here too, if only we have the will to consider all options with an open mind. This is something that has to be done by fair public consultation and debate and certainly not as a unilateral decision thrust upon us.

Suicide-proof ceiling fans!

In case you do not know, Kota, a small town in Rajasthan is the place in the country which has the largest number of private coaching centres for our Civil Service examinations. It also appears that this small town has now become the suicide capital of the country with more and more aspiring and striving youngsters very often deciding to snuff out their lives in utter frustration, unable to bear the pressure of being in the rat race.

In connection with this rather sad and grim scenario I was amused to read a news report recently that the authorities there are thinking of making the installation of suicide-proof ceilings fans mandatory in all buildings that offer paying-guest accommodation in the town. This is the wise outcome of the finding that hanging oneself from a ceiling fan is the most favoured and convenient way of committing suicide in Kota.

In case you do not know what I am talking about, this yet-to-be-invented device is a simple ceiling fan suspended from a spring which will immediately expand and come down the moment someone tries to commit suicide by hanging from it. It brings the person down in a safe landing, ending his or her aspirations of leaving this world and departing to a less demanding one! Whether this rescue device succeeds in its noble mission or not is yet to be seen.

But what will happen when everyone in Kota comes to know that the ceiling fans there can no longer bring respite from pressure and pain and start exploring other means of ending their lives? Will the government then think of suicide-proof top floors and tree branches? Or will it introduce non-lethal poisons and access-controlled railway tracks?

It is indeed sad that young lives are being lost needlessly. But do we have to counter it with outlandishly impractical if not entirely comic means? Why can we not think of stepping up our social vigilance and create readily available means of psychological counselling to which desperate youngsters can turn? And, most importantly, can we all as parents not tell our children that nothing.....absolutely nothing in this world, is worth thinking of leaving for the next.....before it is time for us to go there?

Workshop for media fraternity on Child Rights and Child Protection

Mysuru, Apr. 28 (SP&DM)- Noting that the media (both print and electronic) is one of the key stakeholders and partners in building a pro-child and child-sensitive environment, Deputy Commissioner (DC) D. Randeep stressed on the need for the media to follow ethics while reporting on child abuse and atrocities against children.

He was speaking after inaugurating a half-day workshop jointly organised by the Integrated Child Protection Society (ICPS), Department of Women and Child Development, UNICEF Child Protection Project, Koppal, VERBINDEN, Bengaluru, Information and Public Relations Department, District Administration and District Child Protection Unit, Mysuru, to update the media fraternity on legislations pertaining to child rights and child protection at Maneyangala in Kalamandira premises here this morning.

Pointing out that in the present context of child-sensitive legislations and the changing policies and focus of the Government, the role and responsibilities of the media are also undergoing a significant change, Randeep said there has been an increasing awareness on POCSO Act and Juvenile Justice Act among the media, authorities and members of the public over the past couple of years.

Noting that there have been many debates on the use of the word 'victim', the DC said that with the introduction of POCSO Act, there has been more responsibility on the Police on child protection issues.

Stating that divulging the names of victims, their identity, pictures, residence and location of institutions involved is in total violation of laws, Randeep underlined the need for the media to report on issues related to children in such a way that it would not cause trauma to all concerned, especially the children.

Women and Child Development Deputy Director K. Radha said that the Department was planning to introduce a WhatsApp group to enable all stakeholders in child protection.

Expressing serious concern over increasing sexual crimes on children and violation of their rights, she said the Department was doing its best to address various challenges pertaining to children and their rights.

Explaining the role of counsellors in making this world a better place for children, she complimented the media for displaying sensitivity while reporting crimes on children.

K. Rajendra Bhat, Regional Co-ordinator, UNICEF CP project, gave a power point presentation on child rights, child protection, POCSO Act, Juvenile Justice Act and other issues.

Today's workshop in the city is the fourth in the series with the earlier ones held at Bengaluru, Belagavi and Kalaburagi. Women and Child Development Dy. Director from Bengaluru Shylaja, Bengaluru's Child Rights Director Vasudev Sharma, Women and Child Development Officer Padma, Co-ordinator R. Nagaraj and Mysuru District Journalists Association General Secretary K.J. Lokesh Babu were present.

I-T raids on coffee tycoons in Kushalnagar continues

Phone lines disconnected; bank accounts frozen; owners asked not to leave town

Kushalnagar, Apr. 28 - The Income Tax (I-T) sleuths continued their searches at Sri Lakshmi Narayana Group, popularly known as SLN Group, here this morning and it is the third day of the raids. The Group, headquartered in Kushalnagar, Somwarpet taluk in Kodagu district, is owned by Vishwanathan and Sathappan, who are its Managing Directors.

It may be recalled here that teams from I-T Department began the raid on Wednesday (Apr. 26) and they had arrived at Kushalnagar posing as a wedding party, just to misguide the local people and also the Police officers about the raids.

The I-T sleuths, who have camped at Kushalnagar, intensified the search after visiting each and every business firm owned by the Group and collected documents. The raiding team is led by Assistant Director, Income Tax Sapna Kumar Chakraborty and I-T Inspector Sampath Kumar.

The team visited Coffee Purification Unit at Koodlur Industrial Area, Coffee Curing Works and Purple Farms Resort at Bollur and Eden Garden Layout at Teppadagandi among other places and collected crucial documents and records. According to sources, the investigators have frozen some of the bank accounts operated by the Group in Kushalnagar.

All the telephone lines to the houses and properties have been disconnected and Vishwanathan and Sathappan have been told not to leave the town.

Sources said that Vishwanathan and Sathappan are related to former Union Finance Minister P. Chidambaram and the raids were a part of the continued operation carried out by the IT sleuths against Chidambaram and his son Karti since 2015.

To ensure that nothing goes wrong in the operation, the members of the I-T search teams were changed frequently and senior officials closely monitored the operations. Over 50 Police personnel from Mysuru have escorted the I-T team.

Kings need a win against Sunrisers

Mohali, Apr. 28 - This year's IPL will make its first appearance in Mohali when Kings XI Punjab take on Sunrisers Hyderabad later in the day. The teams are faced with varying needs heading into this match; KXIP need points to starting moving up the ladder, while SRH need a win to stay closer to the top two teams in the standings.

In their most-recent outing, KXIP defeated the Gujarat Lions. However, Glenn Maxwell's side have had a four-day break since that win, and they will need to set things rolling and quickly switch into overdrive mode. The other challenge for KXIP is to quickly gauge and adapt to the conditions in Mohali; the team played their home matches in Indore prior to this and did fairly well, winning two of the three matches there.

Sunrisers Hyderabad clinched their first points on the road in their previous match, and that came through a washed-out encounter against Royal Challengers Bangalore. The defending champions have four wins and three defeats, and are placed in the top half of the standings.

Hashim Amla has scored an unbeaten century and a half-century in his last two innings and is certainly KXIP's man-in-form. There were concerns surrounding his availability, after he injured his hamstring in the previous match. The South African was not seen at the nets on the eve of the match, and there were no updates from the KXIP camp if Amla was available for selection. If Amla has not recovered, the team might contemplate batting Shaun Marsh up the order and bring in David Miller or Eoin Morgan to bolster the middle order.

Glenn Maxwell has four scores in excess of 30 this season, and the time has come for the KXIP captain to make bigger scores. Manan Vohra has shown sparks of brilliance with the bat; the youngster has three good hits – one of them the near-match-winning 95 against this same opponent, and the time has come for him to start making big scores consistently.

Sunrisers Hyderabad have clearly put the onus on one of the openers to get a big one; in six of the seven matches, at least one of the openers had batted into the second half of the innings. In this context, David Warner and Shikhar Dhawan become extremely important to SRH's batting plans. Kane Williamson, who bats at number three, is another in-form player; the Kiwi batsman has looked good in his two knocks so far, and he will look to keep his place for the rest of the tournament.

On the bowling front, look out for two swing bowlers. Bhuvneshwar Kumar has been extremely good with the ball this season and sits comfortably perched at the top of the wicket-taker's list. Sandeep Sharma has been very impressive with the new ball too, often providing KXIP with breakthroughs at the top.

Did your ATM dispense scribbled Rs. 2000 note?

Wave it in front of the CCTV camera immediately

Mysuru, Apr. 28- Having borne the brunt of cashless days during November and December 2016, of late many people are still facing the demonetisation blues as most of the ATMs go dry every now and then. Reason: 'No Cash' or 'Out of Order' boards are hung at most of the ATMs in city and also in other parts of the State.

But this SOM reader online was a happy man when he received the Rs. 2,000 notes without much hassle from an ATM earlier this month. However, his happiness didn't last much long as he unfortunately received a Rs. 2,000 note, which had a scribbling on it. Now read what he has to say in his WhatsApp message forwarded to SOM:

Today when I withdrew money from an ATM, a Rs. 2000 note had some number scribbled on it. I had not immediately noticed it. I needed smaller denomination notes so I went to the branch cashier (Both the bank and its ATM are adjacent to each other).

The cashier pointed out the writing on the note and returned it to me saying it was invalid. I explained that the withdrawal was from the ATM next door.

I had to meet the Manager. He initially refused to accept that their machine had dispensed the note. I stood my ground and they had to re-play the recording of CCTV and only then they were convinced.

The officer, who had filled currency into the machine, had to accept his lapse.

I asked the Manager what could one do if such defect is detected at the time of withdrawal. He said that one should check the new currency immediately and any note with discrepancies should be waved in front of the closed circuit camera installed within the ATM kiosk.

Also do not try to rub out the writing, it may damage the note invalidating it.

NOTE: Please be very careful while accepting the new 2000 and 500-rupee notes. If you find any scribbling or discrepancies, immediately wave such notes at the CCTV camera installed in the ATM lest you may have to run from pillar to post.

As per the official Reserve Bank of India (RBI) communication dated May 10, 2013, it has been instructed that:

1. Banks should do away with stapling of any note packet and instead secure note packets with paper bands.

2. Banks should sort notes into re-issuable and non-issuables, and issue only clean notes to public.

3. Banks should forthwith stop writing of any kind on watermark window of bank notes.

Writing on Currency Notes is Punishable in India.

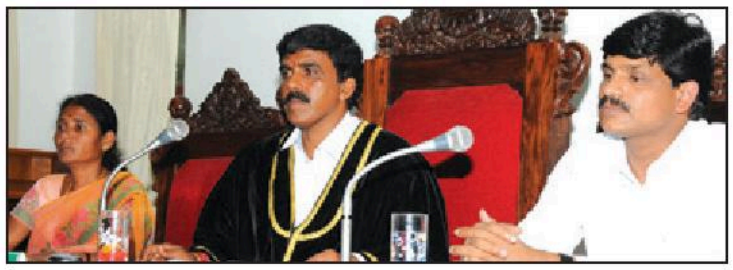
Get ready to pay 15% more property tax

Mysuru City Corporation Council approves the 'minimum hike' following demands from Corporators



Mysuru, Apr. 28 (SBD&BCT)- The Mysuru City Corporation (MCC) Council yesterday decided to increase property and other taxes by 15% which will come into effect from April 1, 2018. The hike will cover residential buildings, vacant sites, industries, trusts, cinema and marriage halls, commercial complexes, community halls, hotels, schools and colleges.

The decision was taken at the meeting of the Council held yesterday that was presided over by Mayor M.J. Ravikumar. Deputy Mayor Rathna Lakshman and MCC Commissioner G. Jagadeesha were present. With the revision, the MCC is expected to collect Rs. 20 crore more than the existing revenue. At present, the MCC collects Rs. 65 to Rs. 70 crore.

Though there was a proposal for a hike between 20% and 30%, the Council approved a 15% hike after Corporators opposed it. MCC Commissioner G Jagadeesha said that there was a provision in the Karnataka Municipal Act 1976, Column 109 (B) to increase the tax by 30% once in three years.

Opposing a 30 percent hike, Corporators felt that the hike was steep and would burden the middle class and the poor. Cutting across party lines, they demanded a minimum hike. The Council resolved to hike taxes by 15 percent.

WATER PUMPING UNIT

The proposal to set up a new pumping station at Hongalli led to intense discussion. The proposal was to purchase new pumps with 300 HP with an estimated cost of Rs. 1.65 crore that will replace the existing 250 HP pump set. Corporator Shivakumar felt that the expenditure was unnecessary and technical experts should be consulted to make the existing pump efficient.

The current water level at KRS is 79 feet against the maximum level of 124.80 feet. In the coming weeks, when the water level goes down further, it will be difficult to pump water at Hongalli Pumping Station by drawing water from RBLL canal.

However, there is an option to draw water during emergencies by laying underground pipelines from the Cauvery River to the Hongalli Pumping Station. This will ensure non-stop pumping of water through the pumping station even if the water level goes down at KRS, the Council was informed.

HOUSING SCHEMES

The Council also agreed to increase the funds for the beneficiaries of housing schemes under the 24.1 programmes for SC and ST and 7.25% programmes for backward communities. The funds have been increased to Rs. 2.25 lakh. A few Corporators urged the Mayor to submit a proposal to the State Government to increase the funds to Rs. 3.5 lakh under the said schemes.

Corporator Purushotham expressed displeasure over the delay in distributing lands to farmers who have lost agricultural lands for development works taken up by the MCC. As many as 245 Scheduled Caste farmers have lost lands and as per the government order, issued in 1977, the MCC should provide them five guntas of land each but many farmers are yet to receive the lands.

PUBLIC TOILETS

The Council approved the proposal for construction of public toilets under Innovation for Urban Wash Solution Programme supported by National Institute of Urban Affairs and United States Agency for International Development (USAID).

Commissioner G. Jagadeesha said that Karnataka is one among the three States selected under the programme. The toilets will be constructed on the land identified by the MCC with funds provided under the programme.

Chairman of the Standing Committee for Town Planning and Development Nandeesh Preetham blamed the officials for being 'apathetic' and failing to take up development works efficiently.

"It has become difficult for us to face the people due to the negligence of the officials," he said. He also offered to tender his resignation. However, Corporators M.V. Ramprasad, M.B. Jagadeesh and Snake Shyam convinced Nandeesh Preetham.

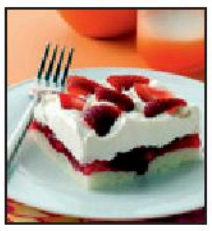
WORD OF THE DAY



Junket

Pronunciation: JUNK-ut
Meaning: A dessert of sweetened flavored milk set with rennet; a festive social affair; trip, journey: such as (1) A trip made by an official at public expense; (2) A promotional trip made at another's expense.
Example: The senator is under fire for going on a weeklong lavish junket.

Origin: The road junket has been a long one, with frequent stops for food along the way. Since at least the 15th century, the word has named various comestibles, ranging from curds and cream to sweet confections. By the 16th century, junket had also come to mean "banquet." Apparently, traveling must have been involved to reach some junkets because eventually the term was also applied to pleasure outings or trips (whether or not food was the focus). Today, the word usually refers either to a trip made by a government official and paid for by the public, or to a free trip by a member of the press to a place where something, such as a new movie, is being promoted.

PHRASE OF THE DAY

To the manner born

Meaning: Destined to be suited to something, by virtue of birth or custom and practise.

Origin: Any examination of 'to the manner born' has to include a mention of its often-quoted incarnation, 'to the manor born'. That has a similar meaning but stresses manorial birth, that is, it refers to someone born into the nobility.
The 'manner' version is earlier and there's some debate amongst etymologists as to whether the second of these phrases was coined deliberately as a play on words, or whether it is just a misspelling of 'manner' as 'manor'. The third possibility, that they arose independently, is highly unlikely. 'To the manner born' was used by, and probably coined by, Shakespeare, in Hamlet, 1602:
HORATIO: Is it a custom? HAMLET: Ay, marry, is't:
But to my mind, though I am native here
And to the manner born, it is a custom
More honour'd in the breach than the observance.
The meaning there is clear. Hamlet knows the custom being spoken of because he is native, that is, born locally. Hamlet was written in or around 1600 and published in 1603. The 'manor' version comes much later. The earliest reference found so far is in The Times, July 1859, in a story about the Emperor of France's visit to Austria: "Before Solferino, Austria was only an intruder in Italy; now she is as one 'to the manor born'."
